Ground Hog Day—with a twist

Other communities may have a ground hog predict the weather on February 2, but here in the Highlands some people like to rely on a more Canadian symbol for prognostications. Carolyn Fountain of Kinmount demonstrates, as she gets the latest weather update from a stuffed beaver tableau Thursday morning. The display is part of an ongoing parade of lawn art featured in Wally McMullen's front yard on Highway 121 between Minden and Kinmount. If ground hog lore is transferable to beavers, Thursday's forecast (despite the umbrella) is for six more weeks of winter, which for the Highlands is just about what normally takes place.

Seniors warned about telephone solicitations

Haliburton County seniors have been cautioned not to divulge personal information to telephone callers.

According to Donna Pacey executive director of the Haliburton County Home Support Services, (HCHSS) someone is calling seniors and asking questions of a private or personal nature. She said the callers have identified themselves vaguely as belonging to an organization similar to HCHSS.

The seniors are asked questions related to income, if they live alone, if their spouse is alive, home ownership and whether they have a vacuum cleaner.

Pacey said her organization is not making the calls and advises anyone being solicited in such a manner not reveal anything to the caller. She said people are under no obligation to reveal that sort of information, especially to an unknown individual over the phone. If the caller is persistent, she also suggests that police be advised of the call.

Home Support Services became aware of the calls when the OPP in Apsley called advising that seniors in that area were being called.

Infrastructure funding

McMahon questions in camera session

by Andrew Milne

A member of county council says the January 18 closed meeting on the proposed new county building, contained only the briefest mention of the possible purchase of property or its price.

The discussion had been declared closed to the public because there were potentially issues relating to the purchase of property. Had they chosen to go ahead with the plan to build the new county administration building, several councillors argued, they would have had to discuss the purchase land.

Land purchase is a matter generally discussed in closed session, and the newly enacted provincial law controlling when local governments may go to closed session, allows it as a valid reason for closing meetings.

Council resolved shortly after emerging from the closed session to petition the federal and provincial governments to redirect the funding which had been assigned to the county under the Infrastructure Works program to other projects, including the renovation of the existing building and capital improvements to the county owned Hyland Crest. The petition also requested that $900,000 be set aside in a fund which lower-tier municipalities could use for their own purposes.

Asked after the meeting whether the discussion couldn't have been divided in such a way that the purchase of the property could be discussed separately in closed session, several councillors insisted they saw no way this could have been done.

But Lutterworth Reeve Jim McMahon says only one question was asked regarding the purchase of land during the entire closed session.

McMahon, who served as county warden last year, is acknowledged to be a driving force behind the proposal to construct a new building.

"There was one question asked by Bill Howe," says McMahon, "and that was 'How much are we talking about for this land?'"

McMahon says he then told council that a local realtor had given him a rough estimate of what the land might be worth, based on knowledge of similar lots — and that this estimate was around $100,000. McMahon asked for this information, he says, back when he was first working on the proposal to erect a new building.

McMahon also says he talked to the landowner himself about whether he would be interested in selling, and that the landowner had said he was open to an offer. He was unsure if anyone else from the county had even bothered to talk to the landowner.

McMahon is also critical of the process followed by the steering committee charged with the task of generating options. His main criticism, he says, is that they only examined one option for the council to consider. "The only major issue that was discussed at this steering committee meeting," he says, "was an architect's proposal for the addition to the existing county building."

The architect provided a detailed proposal for renovations to the existing building, said McMahon. No such proposal was assembled for a new building.

Overall, he says, he doesn't feel the issue has been properly aired — either to the public or to the council that voted on it.

"All the cards are not out on the table," says McMahon. "There are 17 players that make up county council. All the players do not have the whole story."

Deliberations over the county's administrative facilities have been going on for some time now. During his term as Warden, McMahon presented a proposal to the council to build a new administrative office. The proposal suggested the new structure could accommodate county department offices and services such as the OPP detachment and other provincial ministries. Rental income from these services would assist the county in recovering the cost of the building.

Recent expansion of county responsibilities has meant certain departments are pressed for space in the current building, which many consider to be inadequate. In accommodating the expanded county social services department, the county council chamber has been converted to offices. The council now meets at the Minden Community Centre.

Before the last municipal term expired, the county council endorsed an application for financial support through the federal/provincial Infrastructure Works program to construct a new administration building. The application was approved in November at a total cost of $2.4 million. $2.1 million of this would be funded three ways, by the county, provincial and federal governments, under the infrastructure program.

McMahon has suggested that the sale of the existing county building plus the rental income in the new building would cover the debenture required to finance its share of the construction costs.

Haliburton Winterfest '95 slated for this weekend

Organizers of Haliburton's Winterfest '95 are ready for the annual snowmobile and winter celebration. The recent cold weather and the promise of continuing winter conditions have boosted the spirits of those behind the event.

The weekend of activities opens Friday night with a huge bonfire, with free hot dogs and hot chocolate at 6 p.m. This will be followed by a snowmobile light parade on Heads Lake at 7 p.m. This event is sponsored by the Haliburton B.I.A.

The action then shifts to Saturday morning with a pancake breakfast starting at 7 a.m. at the Haliburton Legion, sponsored by the Lions Club.

Throughout the day on Saturday there will be a variety of events including an antique snowmobile display, guided snowmobile rides, ice events and a chance for youngsters to try the junior-sized snowmobiles from Arctic Cat known as Kitty Cats. Most of the activities will be centred on Head Lake.

Snowmobilers will have an opportunity to test their machines against a speed gun as radar runs will held on Head Lake both Saturday and Sunday. The action starts at 10 a.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. on Sunday. The Radar Run is sponsored by Produmax.

The community's 4Cs clothing and food bank will be the beneficiary of a charity hockey game Saturday evening at the Haliburton Arena. Starting at 7 p.m., the match pits an all-star team from the Haliburton Men's Recreational Hockey League against a equally stellar line-up from the Minden Men's Recreational League. Tickets are $3 in advance or $5 at the door. Spectators paying at the door can obtain the reduced price by donating a non-perishable food item to be added to the 4Cs food bank stocks.

One of the highlights of the weekend will be the Winterfest '95 dance at the Haliburton Legion, sponsored by the Dysart Firefighters. The dance will feature the KCIX Country Roadshow. Tickets are available from any member of the Dysart Volunteer Fire Department or by calling 457-2510.

All events are accessible by snowmobile, however organizers remind riders to "Cruise. Don't Booze...Please no alcohol on the trail." For more information call 457-1037.

Murder trial delayed

Only one day of testimony was heard in the trial of Lenard Roy Phillips of Fenelon Falls. Phillips is accused of the stabbing death of Minden OPP Constable Eric Nystedt in July of 1993.

The prosecution wrapped up its case on Monday, January 30. The following day was taken up with motions of procedure by both sides.

Judge MacIsaac decided to adjourn proceedings until Friday, but that day's scheduled proceedings had to be postponed because one of the jurors had a death in the family.

The trial will resume tomorrow, at which time the defense will be making its opening statement.

Tenant, owners relocating, rebuilding

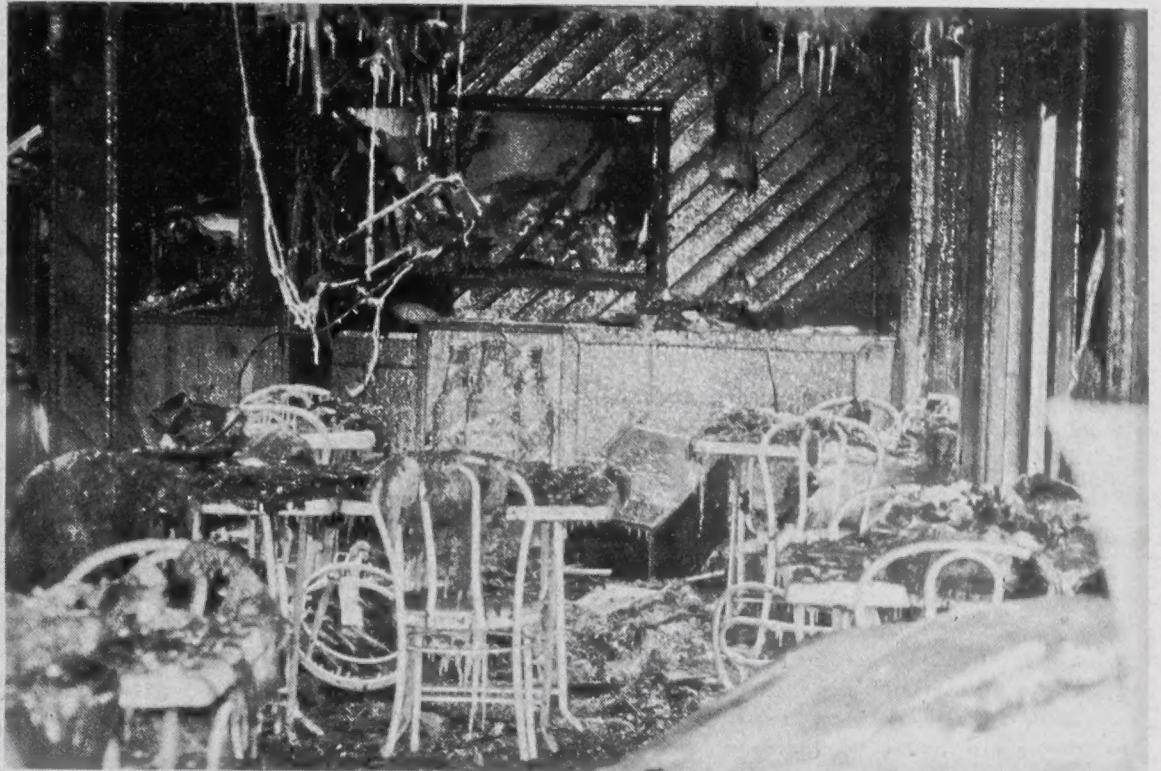

Community rallies around fire victims

by Andrew Milne

Officials report they have determined the cause of the fire that destroyed the 30-year old Johnson building in Dorset and forced the owners to flee for their lives.

A spokesman from the Fire Marshall's Office and investigators retained by the insurance company agree the blaze was caused by a defective stereo system, says Dorset Fire Chief Joe Lindsay.

The fire was reported shortly after 9:00 pm January 30. Owners Bill and June Johnson, who resided on the upper level, were in the building. June, on the ground floor, was able to get out by the front door. Bill, who was upstairs at the time, was forced to escape via an upstairs patio door, and suffered minor injuries from the ordeal. In addition to some cuts and bruises, he was singed when opening the door to escape, as this caused the fire to flash towards him. He was treated at Huntsville Hospital.

The fire raged for several hours. Bystanders reported the roof came down around 11:00 pm. Says Lindsay, "We had thought we had it at one point, but then it flashed over into the upstairs. We were on the scene until 9:50 in the morning."

Insurance will compensate owners Bill and June Johnson for their loss. But as their son-in-law Frank Drinkwater pointed out, "There's no such thing as fully insured."

Drinkwater was at the scene the morning after the fire had broken out. Watching as officials sifted through the ashes, Drinkwater said, "There was a 200 year old antique birdseye maple four poster canopy bed used for display upstairs. Put a value on that. All their oil paintings, their personal oil paintings, absolutely everything they owned is gone. They got out with their bathrobes."

He pauses.
"And their lives."

The building had housed the Johnson's residence and four businesses. Three of these — a restaurant, a real estate office, and a ladies' wear store, belonged to the Johnsons. A fourth — Libby's hairstyling, was run by Libby Woods.

Damage is estimated at $1 million. "There was a lot of stock in the ladies' wear store," says Lindsay.

Woods is looking for a new location and is planning to re-open as soon as possible. The Johnsons intend to rebuild.

The community, says Drinkwater, is really pulling together, and there is a trust fund established for the Johnsons. Donations are being accepted at Robinson's General Store in Dorset, at the Bank of Nova Scotia in Huntsville, and at the Johnson's other Re-Max office in Huntsville. And people have been offering help in other forms.

"The clothes came in fast and furious," says Drinkwater.

"It's everything else they need now."

Board told smoking law may endanger students

by Andrew Milne

A provincial law passed to cut down on smoking, is giving the Haliburton County Board of Education grief.

Bill 119, the Ontario Tobacco Control Act, which came into effect November 30, 1994, forbids smoking by students on school property. The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School (HHSS) had once provided a smoking area for students, but is no longer permitted to do so under the bill.

As a result, says HHSS principal Gary Brohman, students are crossing the adjacent highway 121 to feed their habit.

Brohman told the board, at its regular meeting January 31, that he had talked to a representative from the Ontario Ministry of Health about the problem, but received little satisfaction.

On the other hand, he says, he feels he can hope the students will have the common sense to stay out of danger.

"Without making light of it," says Brohman, "I would trust that the students of this school who do smoke, will stay on the sidewalk, and off the highway."

Also at the January 31 meeting:

■ Various board members and executives expressed reactions to the recently unveiled report of the Royal Commission on Learning. Board chair John Munro said one of the things he found most interesting about the report was a recommendation it did not make — that the number of trustees at school boards be reduced. Said Munro, "With the process we went through a year ago to try to come to grips with the size of our board, and we couldn't see a way to cost-effectively reduce its size... I think it's important to note that the commission has really supported boards like ourselves, which have struggled with increasing costs, and have kept honoraria low, and have worked hard."

■ The board heard a presentation from the Victoria Street School Elementary School Parent Advisory Committee. The group's representatives told the board that they wished to provide parents information about the options for the Victoria Street facility in Haliburton.

Many argue that the building is increasingly proving inadequate for its current purpose. But the aging facility, which had its 70th anniversary last year, amounts to something of a historic landmark for the many residents of the area who attended it.

"We are not a group of parents organized to prevent the closing of Victoria Street School," said Barrie Martin, representing the committee. "We are presently gathering information about the options. We see ourselves as information brokers."

■ The board voted against installing voice mail equipment in the board office. Various arguments were proffered for and against the motion. Expense and the fact that voice mail systems do not support users of rotary phone systems were concerns mentioned by those arguing against installing the system. The demands currently placed on the board's office staff were mentioned by those who favoured the motion.

■ The board heard presentations by a number of trustees who attended a recent Ontario Public School Boards Association meeting. Members spoke on a range of matters, including the impact of portions of newly enacted provincial Bill 163 which require that school board trustees disclose their financial interests to the public, the impact of computers on education, and issues relating to board's and trustees' liability in relation to school trips, and the safety of school property and programs. "With bussing," said trustee Wendy Ladurantaye, "it doesn't matter whether you own the buses or contract out. If there's a problem, the board as a corporate body is liable."

Victoria Street Elementary School principal Judy Tomlinson-Ross watches as Laura Plouffe (left), Lindsay Plouffe, and Mark Johnson present the board with a picture of staff and students of the school, taken on its 70th anniversary in September 1994.

"As a funeral director, I deal with people who are experiencing deep emotions. They are overcome with grief and sometimes it's difficult to know how to reach out to them.

With some people, a soothing word or a reassuring touch on the arm makes all the difference. With others, it takes a little more time to find the right way to reach out. Everyone feels pain differently. By taking time to listen, we discover what we can do to make things a little easier."

January this year has been very unusual with extreme temperature swings. On the afternoon of the 11th, the temperature was -10 C. The following morning it was 0°. We have had only seven days of sunshine. The remainder has been overcast and foggy. Lake ice has been erratic, ranging from 10 to 12 inches on small quiet lakes to open water and very thin ice on larger lakes or where the water is flowing such as inlets or where springs feed the lakes.

Be your own forecaster

Sun Dogs or Parhelia are bright spots, often tinged with colour, which appear in the sky on either side of the sun at a distance of 22° and at the same altitude as the sun. Sun Dogs are caused by sunlight refracting through ice crystals in the upper atmosphere. Depending on the temperature through the atmosphere layers, these ice crystals commonly fall to the ground as rain or snow 24 to 48 hours after the Sun Dogs appear.

Kinmount linked to police computer network

Kinmount Community Policing is alive and well. The Ontario Provincial Police and the Kinmount Policing Planning committee introduced a new network computer system at the Kinmount community policing building. The new computer will greatly enhance the services provided at the Kinmount satellite policing station for local officers.

At the same time, the committee was expanded from four to 10 members. Joining Norm Gilmore, June Phillips, John Austin and Ted Wilkes are Roni Brelsford, Brad Hartin, Cheryl Lafferty, Tom Simmons, Clark Simpson and Chris Weerdenburg.

A key element in the policing activities in the Kinmount area is the Neighbourhood Watch network. The network includes more than 60 people, who are the eyes and ears for the OPP. They are an invaluable resource in crime prevention and investigation.

Complementing the policing effort in Kinmount and area is a Merchant Alert program, which was established last year. Merchant Alert ensures that business people in the area are kept up to date on such things as scams, counterfeit money and other rip-offs.

Community policing in Kinmount started in 1993 and has received the enthusiastic support of citizens, businesses, service organizations local government and the OPP, particularly the Coboconk detachment under the command of Staff Sergeant Andy Miller.

"Constable Frank Sokol is Kinmount's policeman on the street, so to speak," said Ted Wilkes. "He is fast becoming a friend of the community."

Here they come: 200 Women on Snow

by Carol Moffatt

In what promises to be an extraordinary weekend (February 17, 18 and 19), almost 200 snowmobilers will descend on the Highlands for a great weekend. They'll trailer their sleds from cities and towns throughout North America, suit up and hit the trails from Friday through to Sunday.

So what, you say?

Nothing unusual for a winter weekend in Haliburton, right? Wrong.

What makes this gang of sledders different from any other isn't their gear, their sleds, their jobs or their zodiac signs. What's different is that they're all women. And this definitely isn't the traditional girl's weekend away.

This is Women On Snow Canada, the prestigious, one-of-a-kind weekend that provides guided trail rides, raises money for Easter Seals, fosters camaraderie and, best of all, shatters snowmobiling stereotypes.

"This is an incredible event and we're so proud to host it," says Marjorie Kennedy, one of the 40-member team responsible for the weekend's organization.

From lawyers, secretaries and nurses to real estate agents, mums-at-home and teachers, they range in age from 19 to 70 and they're coming to Haliburton for one reason: to ride.

"We invited 150 women from all over Ontario and the United States. We have 155 confirmed and another 150 on a waiting list. With 40 committee members, that's 195 snowmobilers in the county next weekend, more than Sudbury had in any of its four years," she says enthusiastically.

Women On Snow began seven years ago in the United States and remained a mainly U.S. event until a group of ladies from Sudbury decided they could easily bring it to Canada. They did, and Women On Snow Canada has run successfully for the past four years.

Two years ago the Sudbury organizers, owners of the Women on Snow Canada trademark, decided to look for another group to host the event. Highlands snowmobilers Joyce Wright, Kim George and Ann Reynolds were at the 1993 Sudbury event when applications for a new host were announced, says Kennedy.

"They came home and said let's get it for Haliburton," she recalls.

"There were lots of areas that wanted to host it. We had to provide a full proposal and meet all the criteria. We put an ad in the paper for 30 interested women and got 27 at the first meeting. We sent an exceptional portfolio to Sudbury, including a video of The Pinestone, and letters of support from all kinds of people and groups including our MPP, the HCSA and the Chamber of Commerce - oh, there are so many more," says Kennedy, thinking back two years to the start of the planning.

Song and dance routine

But despite the efforts of the Haliburton contingent, the Sudbury folks couldn't decide between North Bay and Haliburton. So 16 Haliburton riders registered for the 1994 weekend and, on behalf of 30 riders and committee members, planned how to win over the judges.

The HCSA "backed us 100%," says Kennedy, and provided matching sweat shirts for what Kennedy laughingly calls "a song and dance challenge for enthusiasm". The Haliburton crowd dazzled the judges, proved they were more eager than North Bay, and won the chance to host the popular event for a 3-year term.

And then the real work began.

Various members of the committee took on the responsibility of arranging different aspects such as registration, security, gas, trails, fund raising and meals, to name only a few areas of concentration. The results have been fabulous.

"Everyone has worked so hard and so well. We have the sponsorship of Yamaha, Polaris, Arctic Cat and Ski-Doo. CHOKO Sportswear has been a major sponsor and we've been overwhelmed at the local support. We have over 200 gifts from all over the county that range from helmets, coats, jewellery and sweat shirts to weekends away for two, for four and for families at local resorts," she said.

The weekend has been organized so that those taking part purchase a complete package. "The meals, accommodation and gas are included in the price. It's so much fun and so well organized and I can't say enough thanks to all our local supporters," says Kennedy.

And organized it is. The Sudbury group owns the Canadian version of the event; other hosts, like Haliburton, pay a $500 user fee for the package which includes all the rules, regulations and organizational tips to get the event into the starting gate.

From then on, it's just plain hard work for the volunteer committee members who have to sell the concept to local businesses, send out the invitations and co-ordinate until the cows come home. The whole weekend is wrapped up into one big shiny package bound to impress residents and visitors alike.

All riders, including committee member, are staying at The Pinestone ("they've bent over backwards for us," Kennedy says of Pinestone's management); Pelee Island Wineries is hosting the Friday evening wine tasting; Wig-a-Mog is hosting the Friday night dinner; a wide range of local restaurants are providing Saturday lunches; Sid Stamp Fuels is providing gas trucks on Friday and Saturday. The OFSC and the Sled Smart Team have provided items for registration gift bags and every place setting at the Saturday night dinner will feature gifts from the four dealer corporations. All members of the Haliburton committee have paid for their matching jackets, shirts and hats from their own pockets to ensure a professional image.

"We've worked so hard for this. We'll even have ballot boxes to determine who rides what make of machine and then have draws for gifts," she says, adding another point to the huge list of details they've covered.

Many of this year's riders, as many as 75% according to Kennedy, have ridden with Women On Snow since its inception. Newer riders are a little nervous, she says, but that fades quickly.

"You don't have to be a really hot rider. There are short, medium and long rides available depending on your level of skill and confidence. You trailer up, we'll help unload. You break down? We'll fix it. We have everything available if you can't, or don't want to, do it yourself."

And aside from the organizational and technical aspects is the personal side. Women bond and form friendships in a different way than men, and what happens when so many women from so many walks of life join together is a unique experience.

"There is such a wonderful array of personalities. The camaraderie is incredible. We get together to enjoy and share and feel successful in our own realm as women. The whole point is to leave these women with the accomplishment of having ridden on their own," says Kennedy.

This is not the Boy's Club

And not surprisingly, the accomplishment of solo riding is the impetus for many participants. Snowmobiling is still a male-dominated sport and although co-ed riding is on the increase, many men still think of the sport as a boy's club.

"A lot of guys laugh at us. I've taken a lot of ridiculing over this. A lot of guys think women can't ride but we can handle ourselves," says Kennedy confidently. And handling themselves doesn't necessarily mean endurance, speed or being able to change spark plugs on the trail. It means organizing; planning ahead, for example, to arrange to have someone change the plugs—if that's what needs doing.

Rosalind Bagg, right, secretary and Marjorie Kennedy, President of the Haliburton Highlands Women on Snow, check a route map in preparation for the arrival of 200 snowmobilers later this month.

But don't mistake the weekend as anything even close to some sort of feminist rally.

"Without Easter Seals we wouldn't have the sponsorship. It would just be another bunch of yahoos out riding and nobody would care. We ride for the kids and raising money is our main focus. We're aiming for $20,000 this year—that would only be $100 in pledges per rider," says Kennedy.

So what will they be doing, these women on snow?

First, a group photo on the front lawn of The Pinestone. Then a Friday evening ride to Wig-a-Mog for dinner and back to Pinestone for wine tasting, free time, hot tubs, swimming and getting to know one another.

After a 6 a.m. breakfast, the 18 different groups, each one of which is colour-coordinated and individually named, will get organized and head out in different directions. Trails have been carefully selected by each group's Lead and Sweep, the names given to those who lead and follow up each group.

Lunches have been pre-arranged at local restaurants, many of which are HCSA supporters and appear on the trail map.

"We have the full backing of the HCSA and that's really important. Without their support we couldn't do this because we ride on club trails," says Kennedy.

Saturday night offers a Gala Dinner/Fun Time Banquet, as Kennedy calls it, and on Sunday there is an optional ride.

"The leads and sweeps have chosen their favourite routes. We'll all leave from Pinestone and gradually head off in different directions. This is not a convoy," says Kennedy with a laugh.

Faced with this winter's recent uncertain weather conditions, Kennedy isn't worried. True to form, arrangements have been made, again thanks to local enthusiasm and support.

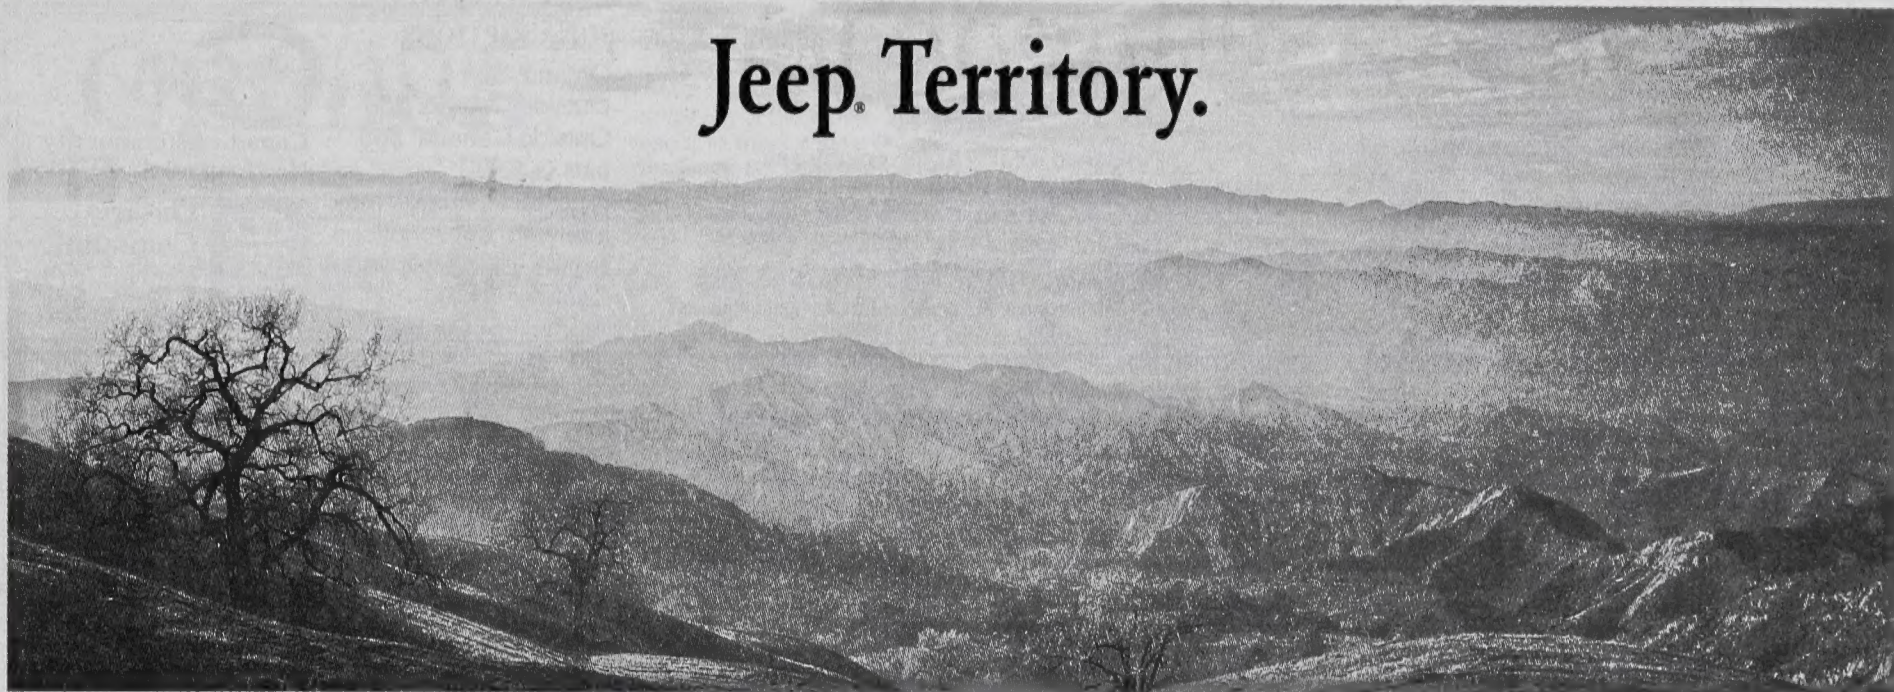

"We have alternate routes planned. And we've arranged with Peter Schlieffenbaum at the Haliburton Forest, that if the trails are no good we might trailer there and ride. He said he wouldn't see us left high and dry," says Kennedy with gratitude.

"But we definitely need snow," she adds.

The weekend is expected to be an economic shot in the arm, as well. Merchants left scratching their heads with recent unseasonable rains can breathe a sigh of relief that almost 200 sledders will be in the area. And some will bring spouses and children along who, according to the rules, must stay elsewhere in the county and are not invited to the ride or its festivities.

"The hassles we've had, the people who have put us down... what most don't recognize is what this means to tourism here. We have 150 people on a waiting list because of our location. Imagine if they all come back..." says Kennedy.

Safe smoking

There is definitely something surreal about a concern which arose at the last meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education. Actually, it was an old chestnut which the board had dealt with several years ago, and which recently surfaced again with the enactment of Bill 119, the provincial legislation to control the use of tobacco.

School authorities are concerned about the welfare of students who smoke. While we are sure the officials are worried because young people have taken up this health-destroying habit, the concern this time is over their safety in relation to the traffic whizzing by the school on Highway 121. The new provincial rules have made it illegal to smoke on school property, and so the students must now cross the road before they light up. Presumably now that the snow lies deep on Sam Slick Park, the students are standing along the edge of the roadway and are in danger of being struck by passing vehicles.

This scenario harkens back to the time smokers were banished to the sidewalk in front of the steam engine. Concern was raised then that the students standing there puffing were in danger of being struck by the school buses turning into the driveway. As a result, the smoking area, a butt strewn patch at the edge of the parking lot, was reopened. Now, under the new legislation, even this pitiful sanctuary is no more.

We are not suggesting that these students be abandoned totally just because they are addicted to tobacco. However, we find it rather strange that the concern being expressed is for their safety vis a vis the traffic rather than the long-term effects of an addiction which will surely take years off their lives. Presuming the school system has made a concerted effort to inform the students about the dangers of smoking and also made them aware of traffic safety, there is little more that can be done to protect them from their own actions, both in relation to smoking and traffic. If these people are old enough to smoke, then they are old enough to know how to avoid being hit by passing cars. If, by gathering on the edge of the roadway, they are impeding the flow of traffic or causing problems for drivers, it is a matter for the police.

Christmas kindness

Editor:

I'm a little late in writing this letter, but better late than never....

On Christmas Eve we all usually forget something. I forgot to get gasoline for my vehicle. This is not good, especially when you are a VON nurse, with calls to be made on Christmas Day in the Minden and Haliburton areas.

I didn't panic. I assumed there would be at least one gas station open for at least part of the day. To my dismay, I discovered that none of them were open....there was not a drop of gasoline to be found.

On my way to my last visit, I passed Sid Stamp Fuels card lock station in Minden and noticed a man getting gas. I approached the gentleman, explained my problem, and asked if he would sell me $5 or $7 worth of gasoline. He agreed.

I would like to thank this man, who was a stranger to me, for his Christmas spirit and his generosity. He gave me $10 worth of gasoline and then refused to take my money.

Follow-up

Editor:

In the January 20th issue of The Times we placed a notice which drew attention to International Development Week. We hope your readers noted the announcement on our behalf and were impressed by it.

As a follow-up, I am writing this letter to mention the current issue of McLean's magazine (Feb. 6) in which there is a six page insert from the Canadian Council for International Co-operation (CCIC). This gives a short but graphic picture of the development work in which our local Help A Village Effort (HAVE) committee plays a part as one of the constituent non-governmental organization of the council.

Fred Elson.

The questions that aren't being answered about separation

A political lobby group, based in the Highlands, is asking some hard questions about the upcoming Quebec referendum. Spokesman Munro Scott explains.

Will Quebec vote to separate from Canada?

Does the government of Canada have any contingency plans for such an event?

The answer to the first question is a matter of opinion. The answer to the second is, quite possibly "No".

The prime ministerial position that the sovereignty referendum will fail and that it would be unhelpful for Canadians at large to get involved, is not acceptable to many Canadians including a group who have become known as the Geary Group.

Geary is a former career officer (Lt. Col.) who has also had 15 years experience as a university administrator. He lives near Soyers Lake between Minden and Haliburton. Shortly after the Quebec election last September, he gathered a group of friends to discuss the issue. All were united in their desire to preserve a unified Canada, but were convinced it was essential for Canadians to have a clear-headed assessment of what the government of Canada should do if Quebecers vote to leave.

Geary has already drawn up a tentative list of suggestions for federal action. However, the group felt that first there were answers that Canadians needed. The outcome was the following questions:

1. Mr. Parizeau suggests there should be one year of negotiations before separation would take effect. Considering that there is nothing in the Canadian Constitution to allow for separation, is such a timeframe rational?

2. During the negotiation period:

(a) what would be done to safeguard the financial interests of both sides?

(b) what would be the status of members of the Parliament of Canada representing ridings in Quebec? Would they be eligible to negotiate for Canada, for instance, while representing a people opposed to Canada?

(c) what would be the status of Quebec citizens who are members of the Canadian Forces, the RCMP, the civil service (including the foreign service), the Supreme Court of Canada, the CBC and Radio Canada, etc.?

(d) would the federal government continue to gather taxes in Quebec and would the federal transfer payments continue to be made to Quebec?

3. From a Canadian point of view, should there be certain non-negotiable requirements such as: a Canadian land link to the Maritimes; guaranteed Seaway access to the Atlantic Ocean; the guarantee of human rights for all Quebecers as presently expressed in the Canadian Charter?

4. Does Quebec have a legitimate claim to the northern half of the province, the Ungava region, which was not part of New France and was not put under Quebec administration until 1912?

5. If Canada accepts the principle of self-determination for the Quebecois, is it then morally and ethically bound to accept the same principle for substantial minorities within Quebec such as the First Nations of the Ungava? If so where does this lead?

The Geary group sent these questions to the leaders of all federal parties and to numerous MPs and MPPs.

In the meantime, Toronto Sun columnist Peter Worthington, who had access to Geary's original suggestions, wrote an article headed, "Time to think the unthinkable (Toronto Sun, December 14, 1994.)"

By late January, responses coming from both the Worthington article and the more diplomatic questionnaire were instructive.

From a bilingual former resident of Montreal: "I have closely followed events in Quebec over the years and even worked for the P.Q. in 1976....I think they will separate, and I am interested in your theme."

A man from Bobcaygeon wrote: "Mr. Parizeau will orchestrate Quebec secession and he will do it ever so smoothly and quickly if unopposed by a firm, factual explanation of the consequences of such an action." The citizen included his own carefully considered 32 point plan for action, saying that "in life, in business, and most especially in politics, 'worst case scenarios' must be prepared for."

From a Victoria County clergyman: "lay the total picture out and let Quebecers decide what they want to be and let them live with that decision. Unfortunately, I have little hope that government will cope with this situation sensibly, honestly and with statesmanship."

The clergyman's mistrust may be well-founded. In responding to the Geary group's questionnaire, the Deputy Prime Minister, the leader of the NDP and Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly all parroted the prime ministerial "it won't happen" rhetoric. Former Prime Minister Joe Clark responded that he would rather modernize the system than create a plan which "would not be helpful at this time." The Geary response urged Clark to take a position of leadership. "Our group feels," he wrote, "...that it is unfair to Quebecers that they are only being told Parizeau's version of the consequences of a 'yes' vote."

When Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson pushed Ontario's Premier Bob Rae to answer the group's "several valid points", Rae replied in a letter that carefully avoided answers and talked about jobs, good government, and "the ties that bind". Geary said the Premier's response was, "an insult to the intelligence of our concerned group of Canadians."

By the last week of January, the only major politician to have responded seriously, thoughtfully, and at length, was Reform party leader Preston Manning. His party has its own 20 point list of questions for Canadians, following the same paths of logic as the Geary group. Possibly the only area glossed over by Reform is the thorny question of who will be legally and morally eligible to represent Canada at the federal level in any negotiations with a separating province.

In the meantime, non-governmental voices are beginning to be heard, suggesting that the Parizeau version of separation is somewhat blind to reality. Individual Canadians are starting to ask their political leaders hard questions that require hard answers.

Anyone wishing to contact the Geary group can do so by writing to: David Geary, R.R. # 2, Haliburton, Ontario. K0M 1S0.

The future finally catches up with us

Hands up anybody out there who's old enough to remember a magazine called Popular Mechanics?

I'm not sure that the magazine is actually dead, but I haven't seen a copy for years. And there was a time when copies of Popular Mechanics were as common as ants at a picnic.

This would be back in the '50's, the age of brush-cuts and The Big Red Scare. An era permeated by the rock-solid belief that a man with a claw hammer and a mouthful of nails could fix anything from a wobbly bannister to a back yard bomb shelter.

Provided he also had a copy of Popular Mechanics.

Popular Mechanics was aimed at Handy Guys — and at guys who liked to pretend that they too were Handy Guys. Which means Popular Mechanics sucked in every male over the age of 12 from Cape Spear to the Queen Charlottes; from Baton Rouge to Baffin Island.

The magazine published blueprints and diagrams that showed you how to build everything from bird houses to ocean-going yachts, but my favourite issues of Popular Mechanics were the "futuristic" ones — where the editors published page after page of "artists' conceptions" about what life would be like in the impossibly far-off future, say in...oh, 1985 or 1990.

What a rosy Brave New World those Popular Mechanics soothsayers envisioned. Mile-high cities covered with translucent domes. Happy citizens hop scotching around in anti-gravity belts. Vacations on Mars.

And of course, the jetcar.

By 1985, everybody would be riding around in jetcars according to the Popular Mechanics viziers. The articles always included sketches of what the jetcars would look like. The drawings usually showed what seemed to be a '56 Plymouth with wings instead of wheels. In the glass-bubble cockpit you could see a smiling, Brady Bunchkin type of family wearing sunglasses and great big smiles as they prepared to jet off into the ionosphere for a weekend in Tahiti or Dublin — or maybe both. The jetcar, after all, would easily crack the sound barrier if you put the pedal to the metal.

Ah yes, the jetcar — when it comes to 20th century fables, right up there with unicorns, Sasquatch and the ten-cent cigar.

Or so I used to think.

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

mouldering copy of Popular Mechanics. I saw it on the front page of the business section of a recent copy of The Globe and Mail.

Okay, I admit that it too, was an "artists' conception" drawing, but if the inventor is right, we would be seeing jetcars overhead as early as this coming summer.

Paul Moller is the inventor's name. He's a Canadian and he's spent 33 years and $25 million developing his baby. He calls it the Volantor Skycar.

You want vehicle specs? Moller says his buggy will have a cruising speed of 575 km/h. It'll be able to fly right over traffic jams — five miles over them if necessary. Moller calculates that his vehicle will be able to dipsey-doodle at the same altitudes as most commercial aircraft.

And the Volantor Skycar won't be burning expensive airplane fuel or rocket elixir either. Moller says it'll operate perfectly well on run-of-the-gas pump Esso regular.

This is fantastic! This is like a dream come true for all my fellow grizzled greybeards who mooned over the drawings in those pages of Popular Mechanics forty years ago. Imagine! A flying car — not only in our lifetime — but by next summer!

Incredible! How much is it gonna cost me to put a Volantor Skycar in my driveway?

Ah...yes, well...there is the small problem of price.

It looks like it's going to cost prospective owners about $1.3 million to slide behind the wheel of this number.

Still...that's cheap compared to a helicopter, say. Or a personal Lear jet with my initials monogrammed on the fuselage.

I guess it's fair. I've spent the past forty years dreaming about owning a jetcar.

I can spend the next forty years saving up for the down payment.

Only one question to ask

The Minden Sled Dog Derby has fallen prey to the weather. After a postponement from mid-January, the event was cancelled last week. The organizers determined there was inadequate snow on the trails to hold a safe race.

The cancellation sent a shock wave through the business community which was looking forward to the economic boost the event would have brought to the area. This year, in particular, the unseasonable weather has reduced winter tourism and the number of visitors to the Highlands. Many were looking to the derby to inject a much-needed stimulus into the economy.

Some members of the community expressed confusion when the race was cancelled after several inches of snow fell Tuesday night. Trail boss Steve Loughheed, the organizer who is responsible for determining if the course is useable, understood why some people may have wondered why the race was not being held.

"The snow which fell Tuesday evening looked pretty good Wednesday morning, but it was simply a matter of too little, too late," Loughheed explained. He noted there was very little snow on the ground after the mild spell in mid-January and much of the trail was covered with a thin frozen crust of ice and crystal snow.

"A trail like that would have supported some snowmobile use, cross country skiing and even walkers," he noted, "but the dogs dig in when they run. The dogs are basically running on their bare feet and need the protection that at least eight to ten inches of snow would provide." As well he pointed out that the sleds used by the racers are equipped with a brake pedal that is pressed into the trail to stop or slow the team. "Without any significant snow on the trail, the usefulness of the brake pedal would be reduced," Loughheed commented. He noted as well that the snow hook the racers use to "anchor" a team if they have to stop on the trail to unravel a tangled harness, would have little to bite into under the snow conditions which existed Wednesday.

The trail includes a number of steep hills where slick ice had formed. This would have made driving very dangerous for both the dogs and the drivers.

"In assessing the trail, there is only one question I ask," Loughheed explained... "Would I run my own dogs on a trail like this?" If the answer is 'No' then I can't in good conscience ask other racers to risk their teams and their own safety."

The Loughheed family, Steve, race governor Val, and their sons Jesse and Caleb, are all avid racers. Normally by mid-February they have competed in six events. "So far we have only been to one," Val commented. "All the rest have been postponed or cancelled. It is just not a good year for sled dog racing anywhere in eastern North America."

The decision to cancel the race was supported by all members of the organizing committee and the race sponsor, Martin Pet Foods of Elmira. "It is not a decision we take lightly," Val Loughheed commented. "Our committee started working on this race last spring. There was a lot of blood, sweat and now tears invested in this event." She noted that it was doubly difficult to cancel the race because of the impact the race has on the local community.

"We're all disappointed," Loughheed concluded, "but we just have to put this behind us and start building for next year's race."

Val and Steve Loughheed examine the thin covering of snow on the sled dog derby trail. The twigs sticking up through the snow would have posed a potential hazard for the dog's feet if they raced across this terrain.

The Minden Men's Hockey Association Playoffs start tonight at 8 p.m. with the first of three games

Legion bantams advance

by Jerry Grozelle

A convincing 7-0 romp over Cannington ended the first round of OMHA bantam Tier II playoffs for the Minden Legion Monarchs. The Monarchs needed only a tie in the third game of the best-of-three series to advance.

Cannington held the Monarchs off the scoreboard for all of the 10-minute first period.

The middle frame was three and a half minutes old when Matt Cheeseman scored on a setup from Rod Upton and Jason Kasepчук. That goal would prove to be the game winner. Less than five minutes remained in the second period when Jason Horsley scored, from Kasepчук and Steve Hutchinson.

The Monarchs turned on the afterburners in the third, scoring five more and keeping the opposition bottled up in its own end for most of the period.

Forty-seven seconds after the opening faceoff of the third frame, Kirk Smith scored Minden's third goal. Upton assisted. Nine seconds after that, Cheeseman notched his second goal of the game, making it 4-0 for Minden. Smith set that one up. Hutchinson netted the fifth Minden marker on a solo effort, with 6:58 remaining in the game. It took just 56 seconds for Upton to make it 6-0, on a setup from Cheeseman. Hutchinson's second goal of the game rounded out the scoring with 2:30 remaining. Horsley assisted on that one.

The Monarchs are awaiting the outcome of the Ops-Manvers series to see who their opponent will be for the next series. That series is expected to start this week.

BOTTLED UP: The Legion bantam B Monarchs kept Cannington bottled up in their own end for most of the deciding game of the series. The Monarchs blanked the visiting Cannington team 7-0 to advance to the second round of the OMHA Tier II bantam playoffs.

Haliburton wins Men's League All-Star game

by Jerry Grozelle

Two unanswered goals in the third period proved to be the difference as Haliburton edged Minden 6-5 in the Minden Winter Carnival Men's League All-Star game.

The contest, between a team chosen from the Minden Men's Hockey Association and its counterpart from Haliburton, was close throughout.

Haliburton took a 2-0 lead, which was cut in half by the end of the first period. Minden scored two in a row early in the second to take over the lead and the two teams alternated goals until Minden was in front 5-4 at the end of the second.

Haliburton's two goals in the third, while holding Minden scoreless, gave the visitors the 6-5 win.

Ron Yake scored twice for Haliburton, with singles going to Tony Woolhouse, Jamie Hunter, Tim Hunter and Tim Davies.

Scott Danilko notched two of the Minden goals, with Eldon Bull, Andrew Burk and Trini Elias netting one each.

Tyke A Monarchs win B championship in Manvers

The weekend of January 27, 28 and 29 was a busy one for the Minden tyke A Monarchs hockey team. The Monarchs started with an exhibition game against the Haliburton Huskies.

Haliburton dominated in the early stages, building up a 4-1 lead by the end of the second period.

Minden rebounded in the third period, scoring three in a row to tie the game at 4-4.

But the Huskies wouldn't be denied. The visitors scored with 15 seconds left in the game to win it by a 5-4 count.

Jeff Griffin and Adam Sisson scored two each for Haliburton, with Scott Lewis notching one. Sisson also had a pair of assists and Griffin had one.

Aaron Keaney, Sean Keaney, Nicky Wallace and Cody Mills were the Minden sharpshooters. Aaron Keaney was involved in all of the Minden scoring. He assisted on the other three markers. Wallace helped out with a pair of assists and Mills helped set up one Minden marker.

B division champions

The Monarchs took part in a tournament in Manvers, coming home with the B championship hardware.

Minden opened the tournament against Ops. Even with two players out of the lineup, the Monarchs skated to a 7-1 victory.

Aaron Keaney netted a hat trick, while Sean Keaney and Zachary Joanu scored two goals each. One assist each went to David McGlade, Judd Campbell, Jordan Joanu, Jesse Heming and Mike Fisher.

Sherri Walker earned the medal for best effort in the game.

Minden's next game was against the Leafs from Ennismore.

A hot Ennismore goalie stoned the Monarchs. The Leafs got one goal against the Monarchs to earn the 1-0 win.

Judd Campbell played a strong defensive game for the Monarchs. Sean Keaney was awarded the "best effort" medal for that game.

The loss to Ennismore dropped the Monarchs into the B division of the tournament. They tangled with Manvers for the B division title.

Manvers scored the first goal of the game, but that ended it for the host team. Minden shut the opposition down after that first goal. The Monarchs scored six consecutive goals to win the B championship.

Aaron Keaney scored four goals, with Zachary Joanu and Cody Mills adding one each. David McGlade had a pair of assists, while Judd Campbell, Fisher, Jesse Heming and Sherri Walker each had one.

Minden goalie Kody Smith played an outstanding game. He was chosen as the recipient of the best effort medal.

League action

Still recovering from the hectic pace of four games in two days, the Monarchs met Fenelon Falls on January 29 in Minden for a league game.

The Monarchs have had trouble against Fenelon all season, and Sunday's game was no exception.

The Monarchs scored the first goal of the game, but Fenelon replied with six unanswered goals to grab a 6-1 win.

Nicky Wallace scored the lone Minden marker, from Jesse Heming.

Atom A Monarchs finished for the season

Last game: The season is over for the Minden atom A Monarchs hockey team. The Monarchs were eliminated by Bobcaygeon in the first round of playoffs. Bobcaygeon won the third, and deciding, game in Minden January 28, edging the Monarchs 3-1. Ashley Pettes was the lone goal scorer for Minden in that game. A Bobcaygeon attacker scores a goal here during the first period of Saturday's game. The Monarchs aren't ready to hang up the skates just yet. They will play in one tournament this month and coach Barry Shaw says he will try to get the team into a couple of tournaments in March.

Men's hockey action in MindenClose competition highlights last week of regular season

by Jerry Grozelle

January 30 marked the end of the regular season for the Minden Men's Hockey Association. The competition couldn't have been much closer. One game was decided by one goal, another by two and the third ended in a tie.

Westside 7, Stamp 6

The evening's opening contest was one of those games where the last team to score won. It was a seesaw battle from start to finish, with Westside Jug City scoring the last goal of the game to break a 6-6 deadlock with Sid Stamp Fuels for a 7-6 win.

Neither team held more than a two-goal advantage throughout the game. At the end of the first half, the score was tied at 3-3.

The Stamp crew took a brief lead early in the second half, but Westside came back with two in a row. The Stamp team tied the game twice more before it was over, but Westside was in front when the buzzer sounded to end the game.

Andy Campbell was the leading scorer for the winners with a hat trick. Scott Hamilton added a pair of goals and one assist to the Westside tally. Single markers were scored by Dave Ross and Scott Danilko. Ross, Craig Crowe and John Fedeski had two assists each, with Danilko, Dave Rogers, Arnold Cowan and Monty Miscio helping to set up one each.

Scott Nesbitt led the Stamp scoring with a hat trick and three assists. Single markers went to Gary Harrison, Trini Elias and Greg Hurley. Eldon Bull and Boomer Stamp each contributed two assists to the Stamp cause, with single helpers going to Elias, Hurley and Jarrett Campbell.

Times 6, Home 4

Thirteen was the lucky number for The Times in the evening's second game. Ron May, wearing sweater number 13 for The Times, scored a hat trick, leading his team to a 6-4 victory over Home Hardware.

The Times scored first and although the Home Hardware squad tied the game on two occasions, The Times pulled ahead with the last goal of the first half and the first of the second period for a 4-2 lead. Home closed the gap to a single goal twice, but that was as close as the Hardware crew would get.

Doug Schell, Paul Mayo and Jeff Howe were the other snipers for The Times, with one apiece. Howe picked up four assists, Schell had three, Mark Thompson notched two and Dwayne Warburton had one helper.

Jim Crawford scored two of Home Hardware's goals, with singles going to Kent Taylor and Dave Hartwick. Kim Colliss helped set up two of the Home markers, with single helpers going to Hartwick, Taylor and Barry Shaw.

Hartwick 5, KDD 5

Each team squandered a lead during the evening's late game. Kountry Double D scored three in a row at the start of the game. But Hartwick Construction rebounded with four straight to take over the lead at 4-3 by the end of the first half.

KDD notched the equalizer in the second frame only to fall behind when Hartwick scored again. The game ended in a 5-5 draw when KDD scored the last goal of the game.

Steve Stewart netted two of the KDD markers, with Ben Manuge, Charlie Teljeur and Gary Nelson notching one each. Single assists went to Peter Alore, Manuge, Stewart, John Hewson, John Teljeur and Nelson.

Glen Hall, Ritchie Mills, Dean Sisson, Ivan Ingram and Jason Stamp were the Hartwick sharpshooters with one apiece. Sisson, Gord Wood, Stamp, Bruce Pettes, Hall, Andrew Burke and Ingram each picked up one assist.

Playoffs

The first week of the round robin playoffs gets under way tonight (Monday, February 6) at 8 p.m. with Sid Stamp Fuels against Hartwick Construction. Home Hardware will take on KDD at 9 p.m. and The Times will tangle with Westside at 10 p.m.

Midgets up 2-0 on Ops

by Jerry Grozelle

The Monarchs have taken a 2-0 series lead over Ops/Omemee in the first round of OMHA midget playoffs.

In the opening game of the series, the Monarchs shaded the Ops/Omemee squad 3-2 at the Minden arena on January 31.

All of the scoring was confined to the second period.

The Monarchs struck first, just 24 seconds after the opening faceoff. Minden captain Dennis Woods was the marksman, assisted by Jeff Wray and Ben Crego.

The visitors evened the score with 5:39 left in the period, but Minden replied with two quick goals to jump to a 3-1 lead. Scott Bailey got the go-ahead goal, from Woods and Wray. Tim Keefer scored what proved to be the game winner, from Bailey and Woods.

Ops closed the gap to 3-2 before the middle frame was over, but that proved to be the last goal of the contest.

Game two, at the Ops arena on February 1, saw the Monarchs fall behind 1-0 by the end of the first period. But Minden went on a scoring rampage in the middle frame, scoring five times, with one reply from the host team. Darren Mills, Tom Bagshaw, Keefer, Ryan Anderson and Wray notched one each to put the Monarchs in front 5-2 after two periods. Wray, Woods, Keefer, Jon Hebert, Anderson and Bailey each had one assist.

Ops scored once in the third, but that's as close as the home team would get as Minden held on for the 5-3 win.

The third game of the best-of-five series is slated for tomorrow, February 7 at 8 p.m. in Minden. If fourth and fifth games are necessary, they will be in Omemee at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Sunday, February 12 in Minden at 8 p.m.

Novices oust Woodville

A 6-1 victory over Woodville in game four of the best-of-five playoff series has advanced the Minden novice A Monarchs to the next round. The Minden team eliminated Woodville in four games with the 6-1 win on January 27.

All three of the previous games ended in 4-2 scores. Minden won two of them and Woodville came out on top in one.

Knowing that Woodville needed a win to keep the series alive, the Minden team came out flying in game four. By the end of the first period, the Monarchs were in front by a 3-0 count.

Nick Mitchell opened the scoring for Minden early in the first period, assisted by Benji Saunders. Within minutes, Saunders and Ryan Vaters added one each to the Minden tally. Mitchell and Evan Kernohan assisted.

Woodville got on the scoreboard early in the second frame. But it took just eight seconds for Kernohan to restore the three-goal lead for the Monarchs. Saunders and Philip Greer assisted on that one.

Leading 4-1 going into the third, the Monarchs didn't let up. They added two goals to their total while holding the Woodville team at bay. Greer and Vaters were the Minden sharpshooters in the third period, scoring one insurance marker each. Kernohan, Greer and Matt Mattsson drew assists.

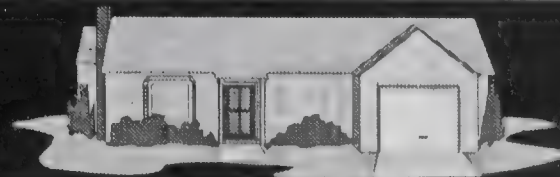

The season got off to a rough start for the novice A team, but with some changes and hard work, the team has advanced to the second round of playoffs.

Coach Rich Lyddiatt says he is looking forward to the next series.

D WINNERS: The Rockcliffe Trophy, for the B division winners of the Minden Winter Carnival Bonspiel, went to the Killaloe rink of lead Irwin Phanhour, second Sandra Phanhour, vice Irene Peplinskie and skip Gabriel Peplinskie (l to r)

These feet were made for walkin'

by Jerry Grozelle

Maurice Duff credits a regular regimen of walking as the reason he is still among the living. Duff suffered a mild heart attack in February of 1989. He and his wife Shirley and another couple were skiing at Muskoka and on the way home to North York, Duff said he felt some discomfort. When the skiers stopped at a restaurant on Highway 400 the discomfort persisted.

"There was one of those 25 cent diagnostic machines at the restaurant," Duff recalls. "When I put my arm in, it told me to see my doctor immediately."

Duff spent more than a week in hospital in North York. When he was released, he was referred to the Heart Clinic of the Toronto Rehabilitation Centre, where Dr. Terry Kavanagh put him on a program of walking.

"The heart is a muscle and it needs exercise like any other muscle," Duff explained. "It needs to build up strength gradually."

He started off walking short distances in a specified time. By the second month, he was up to two miles in 38 minutes.

"You have to maintain a certain pace to keep the heart working," he said.

Since then, Duff has increased the distance to three and a half miles and the pace to about 15.5 minutes per mile, or 54 minutes for the 3.5 miles.

Maurice Duff was a reporter for the Toronto Star until 1973 and after that, he taught at Humber, Seneca and Sir Sandford Fleming Colleges, among others, until he retired in 1992.

The Duffs have a cottage on Gull Lake and Maurice used to drive into Minden for his daily walk along the river. It was during those walks that he noticed the "old clergy house" on South Water Street, was for sale.

"One thing led to another, and we bought the place," he says.

Until recently, walking in Minden during the winter months has been a risky business.

A couple of winters ago, Duff took a tumble on the ice and injured his shoulder. But walkers aren't at the mercy of the weather during the winter months any more. Archie Stouffer Elementary School is available to walkers from 7:30 to about 8:15 a.m. so walkers can get their exercise indoors.

RELAXING: After a long walk, Maurice Duff likes to relax and put his feet up. The Minden resident walks three and a half miles a day, five days a week to keep his heart exercised. He is one of several people who take advantage of the hospitality at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, weekday mornings during the winter months from 7:30 to 8:15, for some indoor walking.

From fall to spring, a group of walkers gathers at the school five days a week. The circuit that they walk works out to one third of a mile, so it takes three laps to equal a mile.

An indoor walking program started at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School about three years ago. This is the second year for the program at ASES. Since he started the walking program, Duff said he has had no trouble with his heart.

He is convinced that if he had started the walking program earlier he would never have had a heart problem in the first place.

Duff said that walking is good exercise for almost everybody.

"The beauty of walking is that it doesn't cost anything," Duff said. "All you need is a good pair of shoes."

shoes."

February is Heart and Stroke Month. Duff will be among the canvassers who will be going door to door this month, asking for donations to the Heart and Stroke Fund.

Kinettes host tea party

The week started out with fitness with Doris. In the afternoon the residents had "Winter Memories" with Doris.

They told about their homemade bobsleds and skis made from barrel staves. Many great times on sleigh rides, something I never got to do.

Tuesday morning Pastor Murray took chapel service. In the afternoon we had crafts, Doris Linda and I assisted the folks with various project on which they are working.

In the evening Pearl Cowen had a few hands of euchre for the residents.

Wednesday morning was fitness again with Janice Rachar assisting. In the afternoon the residents played euchre and crokinole. Volunteers assisting were Mabel Deacon, Eleanor Crane and Pearl Cowen.

Thursday morning was the usual fitness once again. In the afternoon there was a tea party catered to by the Minden Kinettes. Birthday cake was served in honour of the January birthdays.

Friday morning residents folded serviettes for the dining room. Special care unit had a treat, Rick Thompson played his guitar and sang. Thanks Rick.

The Grandfathers Four entertained at Friday Happy Hour. The four are Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon, Don White and Charlie Hadley. Thanks again fellows.

Residents, family and friends had a great time dancing, visiting and taking a little sustenance. Volunteers were Bonnie Fullan, Pearl Cowen, Dottie Muirhead, Ellen and Don Holden and myself.

Sunday, the Haliburton County Horsemen's Association held sleigh rides for local children. Many thanks to Harvey McIntosh for bringing his horses. He made some children happy.

Estella Burch read a chapter from her book. Rev. John Burgess conducted chapel service in the evening.

Our deepest sympathy to the family of the late Vera Bouchard. Vera passed away January 28.

Birthday greetings to Ruby Stephenson who celebrated her birthday January 28.

Seniors' casting call

If you have always wanted to "tread the boards", this may be your opportunity to find yourself in the spotlight, on the stage at Roy Thompson Hall.

The Royal Bank has announced the search for talent for its annual Senior's Jubilee is now underway. If you are a singer, dancer, musician, comedian, cabaret or novelty performer this could be your big chance.

The producers of the Royal Bank Seniors' Jubilee '95, Wayne Burnett and Glenda Richards of Richburn Entertainment are searching the province for talented seniors (55 plus) to audition for the seventh annual showcase of senior performers.

The Jubilee is the largest annual seniors entertainment showcase in Canada. Another day has been added to the schedule this year to make it a week-long celebration of excellence in the performing arts. The event takes place from August 14 to 18.

The producers expect over 1000 performers, representing more than 50 communities from across the province. Prior to the performances, which begin each day at 1 p.m., those arriving for the show will be treated to informal lobby entertainment. Each day will feature a different line-up of performers.

Popular radio personality Bill McNeil will be the Master of Ceremonies throughout the week. As well, Jubilee patron, former Lieutenant Governor Pauline McGibbon, will be on hand to present the Life Achievement in the Arts Award named in her honour. The recipient is a senior performer who has made a significant contribution to the arts.

Entertainers will include a variety of performers including tap dancers, folk dancers, cloggers and square dancers, musicians, jazz and concert bands, singers, soloists, duets, quartets and choirs, comedians, cabaret acts, novelty performers, all in a professionally staged production.

If you have a talent and would like to arrange an audition, contact: The Producers, Richburn Entertainment Inc. 260 Queen's Quay West, Suite 2805, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 2N3, or call 416-962-3819. The deadline for applications is April 30.

Cardiff projects approved

Six projects worth $198,885 have been approved in Cardiff Township under the Canada/Ontario Infrastructure Works Program. The approvals were announced last week by Cardiff Reeve Thomas Elliott, Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly and Municipal Affairs Minister Ed Phillips.

The following projects will receive assistance under the program:

*$126,385 will be used to upgrade the Paudash Lake and Eel's Lake road to bring them up to municipal standards.

*$50,000 will be used for a waste recycle project that will include building storage facilities for recyclable materials at two landfill sites.

*$10,000 will be used to construct a fire-proof vault attachment to the municipal office for file storage.

*$7500 will be used to expand the Deer lake Cemetery, including land filling and fencing.

The remaining $5000 will be used to drill a well at fire station number 2 to supply water for the fire hall and recreational facility. The projects are expected to be completed by fall 1995 and will create an estimated 92 person-weeks of employment.

Each level of government will contribute one third of the total cost.

Hand signals for smart drivers

Help stop impaired thinking on drinking. If you drive, don't drink. Here are some tips.

- Tip 1. Don't take your car to the bar. Or anywhere else you will be drinking. Then you won't have to make an impaired choice.
- Tip 2. Arrange for a designated driver, call a cab, or ask a friend for a lift.

A lift for your spirits

Feel the need to get over the February "hump"? Look no further than your own back yard.... C.H.A.C.E.'s many programs have the answers to lifting your spirits and putting the bounce back into your step!

Try these ideas on for size:

CHACE Inc.

by Sue Valm, Executive Director

HALIBURTON C.H.A.C.E. celebrates February with hearts and flowers and a focus on a healthy heart. Join us on February 14 for our Valentine's pot luck (sign up required please) or on the 8th or 24th for our "bend and stretch" days. The whole month is filled with exciting craft ideas, music circles and story times (on the 15th the kids can even create their own stories!) designed to enrich and stimulate and give the children of Haliburton County exciting opportunities for positive growth. If you are caring for children in your home, come drop into C.H.A.C.E. and let our activities complement the energy you devote to the children you care for. February 23 is a special resource day designed for caregivers! Pop in and see what it's all about.

MINDEN C.H.A.C.E. is celebrating February by looking at a variety of animal themes and of course, Valentine's Day festivities. Come learn about hibernating animals and animal homes and a week dedicated to...Teddy Bear Mania! Come visit us on February 13 and 16 as we make ground hog homes and bird nests. You won't want to miss our annual "Teddy Bear's Picnic" on February 22 — and be sure to remember your teddy! A special workshop will be held at 7 p.m. on February 6 for caregivers looking for ways to entertain kids on holidays and special days — join us and discover "Special Day Activities for Kids".

C.H.A.C.E.'s MOBILE FAMILY OUTREACH PROGRAM has a full slate of activities prepared for each of its county stops. This month is dedicated to love and friendship — the perfect prescription to ward off the winter blues and isolation we all often feel during the last leg of winter. Just call us at C.H.A.C.E. (457-2989) and ask for Rosemarie to find out when the Mobile stops in your community. And remember...when you pop in over the month of February, don't forget to wear red!

As winter draws to a close, many people and businesses prepare for their spring workloads. Remember C.H.A.C.E. DAY CARE in Minden as you make your plans. We offer licensed, loving child care for children aged 15 months to 9 years of age in both our pre-school and after school programs. Financial assistance is available to families who qualify — find out by calling 749-3488 (collect). To register for our day care, just call Wendy Sisson at 286-4074.

Gary Lloyd, left, of Barrie was one of 62 riders to take part in the annual Haliburton Rotary Club's Snowarama for Easter Seals. The participants took to the trails at Haliburton Forest and Wildlife January 28 and raised nearly $13,000 for the charity. Brian Black of Sid Stamp Fuels tops up Lloyd's tank as fellow Rotarian Lorne Hopenreys looks on. This was the twentieth year the club has held the fund raiser.

Second Lions Luxury Draw in the works

Everyone who holds a ticket in the Minden Lions Luxury Draw should have received a request in regard to whether they want to enter

by Lion Maurice Boyd

Luxury Draw '95. Until we hear from holders of tickets from last year's draw we will not know how many tickets will be available for new participants. We are currently compiling a list of persons requesting tickets, so if you are interested in having your name placed on the list, speak to any member of the Lion's Club or call 286-3714.

The format of the draw is the same as last year with one exception. There will be three "Early Bird" prizes of $500 each. They will all be drawn on the same night, Thursday June 29, 1995. The regular monthly prize will be stated on the new tickets giving the winner of the monthly first prize the choice of the merchandise for that month, or $1000. in cash. The second prize each month is $500.

With the change in the early bird draw, the number of winners has increased to 27 from 26. Also, the merchandise values have increased to make the over-all prize value for the year $24,000.

Just a reminder, all proceeds from the Luxury Draw are to go toward our club's commitment of $100,000 for the county hospital plan.

The early bird bingo game every Thursday also goes toward this commitment. To date, this game has raised over $10,000 in its first year. The Lions thank everyone for their support in this great undertaking.

Go surfing with TVO Online

Everywhere you turn these days, there's an information overload on the information highway, with particular congestion and confusion at the on-ramp to the Internet.

Frankly, I don't understand it any better than most people and I don't expect I'll really get a handle on it until I have a chance to use it. Thanks to TVOntario, there's way to get some practice with the information highway without having to buy software or find a supplier or take on the whole world at once.

And it's free! Well, free except for the little matter of a long-distance telephone call to Toronto. And the purchase of a modem to go with your computer, if you don't already have one. But that's true of the information highway wherever you are in Haliburton County (except for those lucky souls who are plugged into Sir Sandford Fleming College).

TVO Online gets you right inside TVOntario and offers you electronic access to educational billboards, conferences and debates on programming areas, and programming highlights. For example, the recently released report of the Royal Commission on Learning is now posted on TVO Online and the network is moderating an electronic conference where travellers of the information highway can discuss the commissioners' recommendations in both official languages. On a more mundane level, you can also order TVOntario merchandise through the computer.

If you're interested, call me at 286-6009 and I'll get TVOntario to send you a free copy of the software. Just let me know what size diskette and what format you want: Mac, DOS-Windows, or just plain DOS for those of us still far enough back in the electronic dark ages not to have Windows yet.

I'm looking forward to trying TVO Online. I'm sure there'll be the usual start-up glitches, but it's a great way to learn to surf on the size of lake I can handle without having to take on the whole ocean. I look at it this way. It's going to be kind of like the telephone: I won't know how it works, I'll just know how to use it.

TVO Update

by Susan Wilson

Program Highlights:

Whether you're a fan or not, having the hockey season back in full swing sure makes it feel more like winter. This week on the Senior Report, host Mike McManus talks with broadcaster, journalist, and lawyer Jack Batten about The Leafs, his anecdotal history of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Their conversation will focus on two periods: the years under Conn Smythe and those under Punch Imlach.

To help recreate the era, Mike also interviews Cal Gardner, who scored the winning goal in the final game of the Stanley Cup in 1949, and Billy Harris, who played when Imlach was coach and was treated like a son by Stafford Smythe, Conn's son.

The Senior Report airs three times a week. This edition can be seen on February 6 at 11:00 p.m., February 7 at 12:30 p.m., and February 11 at 6:30 p.m.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to more information about TVOntario or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009.

Searching for the facts

These days we are assaulted by vast amounts of data and information made readily accessible through the electronic and print media and computer networks.

Much of it, though, is infojunk that is not worth wasting time on. But overwhelmed by info glut, how can one decide what is credible and worth paying attention to? The quandary is worsened by the fact that the media have created an audience with a short attention span and hooked on sex, violence and the sensational.

Fortunately, there is a bright beacon of authority on global environmental issues, the Worldwatch Institute (WWI), (1776 Massachusetts Ave.NW, Washington, DC, 20036). The organization maintains its credibility by refusing to accept any money from government or corporate sources, relying instead, on revenues from charitable foundations and publication royalties.

All of the organization's publications are carefully written to be accessible to the concerned citizen while being extensively footnoted and exhaustively referenced. Around the world, WWI publications generate an average of 40 articles a day, every day of the year!

The WWI is the inspiration of founder and president Lester Brown described by the Washington Post as "One of the world's most influential thinkers." Brown is an expert on food, having been a farmer and studied agriculture and agricultural economics in university. He has an international perspective that was acquired while working in India and in the federal Department of Agriculture.

In 1974, the WWI was established to analyse global environmental issues and it now has an enormous impact around the world.

Ten years after starting WWI, Brown began publishing an annual State of the World book containing the best up-to-date report on issues of social, environmental and economic concern. Although often grim, each chapter contains concrete steps that can be taken to change the deteriorating conditions. State of the World is so highly regarded, in the United States alone it is used in over 1,000 college and university courses! The annual report is translated into 27 languages.

Information is the institute's major product and the range of topics can be seen in the many books authored or edited by Brown and his associates that cover topics from population growth to over-consumption, food, water, soil and energy.

The WWI has published dozens of monographs that focus on specific topics like soil erosion, indigenous people, forestry and fisheries. In 1988, WWI began to publish the popular bi-monthly magazine, World Watch.

In 1992, the WWI started producing Vital Signs, an annual compilation of dozens of up-to-date key indicators of the state of our economic, social and ecological health. In Vital Signs, one can quickly acquire a sense of the direction in which we are going, by scanning the trends in many areas.

The indicators provide revealing snapshots of what is happening on the globe. For example, the 1994 editor reports "Some 520 species of insects and mites are now resistant to one or more of the pesticides that are widely used to control them."

"Some 17 species are now immune to virtually all pesticides used against them...this situation is analogous to...more and more species of disease-causing microorganisms becoming resistant to antibiotics."

The data on AIDS are stark. It "is still spreading rapidly in most of the world - indeed still gaining momentum in many regions. In some urban regions of Africa, 30 per cent of all adults now test positive for HIV...Last year, more than a million HIV-positive infants were born in Africa."

Many of the indicators inform us of the finite nature of resources and that we are hitting the ceiling on many. For example, in the oceanic fisheries "for the fourth year in a row, the fish harvest has been static, changing little from the preceding year."

Failing water tables and spreading water scarcity are bringing us face to face with the limits of the hydrological cycle. Water scarcity is beginning to shape the evolution of the global farm economy, altering production patterns and diets...In some countries, farmers are no longer able to raise the productivity of their land.

In Japan, rice yields have not increased at all for a decade despite a powerful economic incentive...Life expectancy, still rising in most of the world, is dropping in some countries. The largest to register a decline is Russia.

As nations around the world continue to press for economic growth while depleting their ecological capital, the Worldwatch Institute continues to issue the facts, analyses and prescriptions, a welcome relief from the infobabble.

Acid rain report

The following report on acid precipitation was recorded at the Ministry of Environment and Energy site near Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period January 22 to 28:

Jan. 22: 1 cm of snow with a pH of 4.7, tracked from northwestern Quebec and northeastern Ontario.

Jan. 23: 1 cm of snow with a pH of 4.3, tracked from northeastern Ontario.

Environmental damage to lakes and streams is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH readings of less than 4.7. pH readings less than 4.0 are considered serious.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Helen Skelding and I were in charge of the Senior Euchre game during the Winter Carnival at the arena. Nine tables of players enjoyed these games. There were many winners wearing the carnival ribbon and Winnie pin. Cash prizes were given for lone hands (yellow cards) Jack Chilton and Bev Johnson and for white cards Marg McAfee and Ida Young (split). High score on yellow was Irene Fuhr and on white Trudy Penick and other scores on white Iris Taylor and yellow, Pat Scadden. Thanks to all who came out to make this a really fun afternoon and special thanks to my helper, Helen.

We were very sorry to hear that Chic and Marian Minaker are moving to Stouffville - our loss is their gain.

All good wishes to the following people not so well at present: Clara Sedgwick, Eleanor Crane, Kit Schroter, Jean Cox and Ivan Francis.

Minden and District Horticultural Society annual meeting and pot luck dinner will be held February 7 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Paul's Anglican Church Hall. Guest speaker will be Al McPherson from Sir Sandford Fleming College and the installation of the 1995 officers will also take place. Don't forget to bring your own plates and cutlery.

Ruby Schmidt showed me a newspaper clipping from the Hamilton Spectator describing the experiences of her grandson, Sean Campbell, who, along with a friend, was teaching in Japan. They are not too near Kobe where the earthquake took place, but had a great deal of difficulty finding a place to sleep. They in fact slept at the airport while waiting for their flight. They also lost funds and are now searching for employment back home. From the pictures we have all seen, it is really devastating, but the Japanese will recover; they have done this many times

Club 35 euchre game results from January 30 - winners included Merv Bunker with most lone hands, Eleanor Bunker and George Hewitt with the highs and Olive Daniels, Ken Wallace and Verna Sawyer. Bob Lewis won the 50/50 draw and the next Wheels to Meals dinner will be held February 14 at 12 noon.

Euchre winners from Kinmount Seniors on Wednesday January 18 included Bill St. Thomas with most lone hands, Mary Wilkins, Helen Byne, Truman McNeil and Mike Bailie. Wednesday January 25 winners included Lloyd Jurchison with most lone hands, Bill St. Thomas, Peggy Day, Sandra Robertson, Mildred St. Thomas. Join the group Wednesdays at 8 p.m. upstairs at the Kinmount Legion.

Royal Canadian Legion Branch 636 euchre game winners were Vi Edgson and Orval Francis with most lone hands, Ida Young and Bill Mitchell with the highs and Marg McAfee, Jean Scadden, Jessie Preston, Elli Langpohl, Orval Francis and Judy Merritt.

Recent visitors with Audrey and Bob Vick were their son Wayne from Pickering and Frank and Marion Bacon from Bobcaygeon.

I had a brief visit with daughter Carol and her hubby Reg Leaman of Newmarket last Sunday.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Jeff Emmerson, Vera Bouchard, Leland McCracken and Frederick Fountain whose funerals were held recently.

Weekly Monday afternoon winners at St. Paul's on January 30 included, Pearl Cowen, Roberta Walker, Jeanne Sears and for most lone hands, Dorothy McElwain. Pearl was the lucky winner of the draw as well. Everyone is welcome to attend these games which are held weekly and begin at 1:30 p.m.

The Stanhope Bridge players had a great afternoon on January 31 with winners for that day being Moira Gillette, Helen Rice, Lyle Lucas and Earl Hayne (tied). No partner is required for you to come and enjoy these bridge games held Tuesday afternoons at Stanhope Centre.

A large crowd enjoyed the euchre games at the Gelert Centre on January 31 with winners including Helen Byne, Dorothy Milburn, Bruce O'Brien and Earl Schellenberg with most lone hands going to Marian Minaker. The next games will be held at Gelert on February 14 at 7:30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

Big euchre game winners at Stanhope on February 1 were Jean Randall, Jean Scadden, Lottie Ruttan, Neil Griffin, George Hewitt, Norm Lee, Garth Windsor and the hidden score, Ida Young. These games are held every Wednesday starting at 7 p.m.

Just a note of thanks to my friends who remembered me on my birthday - it's so nice to be appreciated.

To encourage your winter stormy night reading, the hours at Minden Library are: Tuesdays 1:30 to 5 p.m.; Wednesdays 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 3-5 p.m.; Thursdays 1-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.; Fridays 3-5 p.m. and Saturday 1:30 to 5 p.m. Some new books just came in and requests are filled very quickly from the office.

Sincere birthday good wishes to these folks at Hyland Crest: Alice Morrison and Edith Brittain, both February 3; Lillian Stevenson February 9; Marjorie Shuyler February 11; Eileen O'Brien February 17 and Cyrille Delang February 26.

Minden Women's Institute February meeting will be held on the 15th at the Common Room at 2 p.m. with convenor Annie Kernohan with her topic: Agriculture and also a geography quiz. All ladies are most welcome to attend these meetings which are now in their 88th year.

THANK YOU!

Even though we could not hold the Minden TECHNICAL CHALLENGE this year, there are still a lot of people who worked very hard and were committed to helping right up to the bitter end. We want to thank these people formally... their dedication and loyalty have not gone unnoticed!

Heartfelt thanks are extended to...

Reeve Jean Anthon and the Anson, Hindon and Minden Council, Clayton Cameron and the Roads Department, MAPSA, Don and Opal Crowe, Prentice-Berry Ltd., Sally Bonner, Pat Murphy - Canadian Handcrafted Homebuilders Supply, Warren and Sue Payne and Modern Electric, Bill Payne, Lorry Brandon, Ian Sainsbury, Bill Hogg and the Minden Fire Department, Minden Parks and Arena Staff, Minden detachment of the OPP, Minden Ambulance Service, Brian Black - Sid Stamp Fuels and Shell Canada, Minden Amateur Radio Club, Minden Rent-All, Arnold Schroter and the volunteers from the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, Rockcliffe Tavern, Sleemans, The Times, Sue Collings and Steve Longworth, Northern Lights Vocational Services, Northland Sales, Home Hardware, The local businesses which donated goodies for the mushers' welcome kits, Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, Jim Garbutt Enterprises, Minden B.I.A., Highlands Jewellery, Lawrence Loughheed and Ontario Hydro, John A. C. Kernohan Construction, Floyd Hall Ltd., The Minden Pathfinders, Paul "Drifter" Gauntley, Senitt Puppets, Gord Monk - Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Dr. Peter Bennett, Of Sound Body, Gary Thurston, Highland Plumbing, Lisa Kowaltschuk, Archie Stouffer students and staff, Dennis Allaire and the Royal Canadian Legion Army Cadets, all the racing teams who were keen to run and were disappointed they couldn't come to Minden; and all the citizens of Minden who were prepared to provide a warm reception for our racers and spectators...

Also, a very special thank you for the unexpected gift of a "sympathy supper" for the Committee members and spouses from Bill Redgrave of the Hunter Creek Inn. We are grateful for the continuing support of our sponsor, Martin Pet Foods of Elmira.

And finally a big thank you to all of the wonderful volunteers who were prepared to stand out in the cold for the 2 days of the race. We know you would have done your usual professional job and we will be counting on you for the 12th Annual...

MISCIO - In loving memory of a dear Mother and Grandmother Annie Miscio who passed away January 27, 1993.
